Submission Guidelines for Personal Essays

Charleston Style and Design invites you to submit an original, unpublished personal essay of no more than 650 words for possible publication in our quarterly department, Reflections.

Your essay should present an idea, concept or experience that you think would be of interest to our readers. We believe that the best personal essays have all the characteristics of a good story, offering compelling descriptions, a narrative line and, of course, a personal point of view. Beyond that, we look for essays that give readers a “takeaway”—a thought or insight to which they can relate.

For consideration, send your essay (via e-mail only) and a short two-sentence biography to editor@charlestonstyleanddesign.com. Place the words “personal essay” in the subject line and be sure to include your contact information at the top of the essay document. If your article is accepted, we pay $200 after publication. We reserve the right to edit for length and content.

For examples of past essays, go to charlestonstyleanddesign.com and click on the thumbnail of the magazine cover (upper left). From there, find and select the search icon (the magnifying glass) on the toolbar. In the box that appears, type the word “Reflections” and you’ll be taken to the essay page.
